She loved her boys, but the real light of her life was her grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She was affectionately known to them as "Nana" and spent her retirement years going to every single softball, baseball, and soccer game, every play, musical, birthday party, or school event that she could. She was the world's proudest Nana. Anyone who knew Chickie knows she was a practical joker with an ornery streak, and she always had a story to share. She loved to laugh, and to make others laugh. Her favorite kind of day was spent with family, telling stories of her youth, and cooking them more delicious food than they could eat.
